

Kassandra Hardy

Kassandra (Kass) is the Centennial Coordinator for Glacier National Park. She has worked several seasons as a Park Naturalist in both West Glacier and St. Mary. In between summers, Kass has also worked as an Environmental Planner in the National Capital Region for the NPS in Washington, D.C. She has collectively spent a year in Yosemite National Park as a planner for the Tuolumne River Plan and for the Operational Fire Management Plan. Last fall she spent her time wandering around the great Colorado Plateau of Canyonlands National Park as a Backcountry Ranger. Kass has a great appreciation for wild America, especially our National Parks. When she is not planning and meeting with Centennial partners- you may find her climbing glacier's peaks, valleys, and glaciers; striving to green the park operations or counting mountain goats, loons, and pika.
